

ABSTRACT

Methods and apparatus for correcting for circuit self-heating replicate a thermal characteristic of a component that may be coupled to a bias circuit. A bias circuit may 5 include replication component coupled to a reference cell. The replication component may be included in a feedback loop with the reference cell to improve accuracy.